
PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am a creative problem solver who loves developing strong and innovative concepts to produce thoughtful designs. My passion doesn't stop at overall problem solving, but runs throughout my ideation process, my attention to detail, and my aspiration to never stop learning.

I have experienced and engaged in numerous design disciplines throughout my education and professional experiences. They include film making, screen-writing, photography, branding, publication design and production, advertising campaign development, layout designing and typography. Through these endeavors I have gained a thorough understanding of how to work and design efficiently in fast-paced environments. With my range of creative experiences and my flexible, positive personality I can easily adapt, succeed, and grow in any new creative atmosphere.
